January 25 , 2022 – The Women in Propane’s Celebration Summit is a culmination of 10 years of excellence from this organization. The day will start by hearing from four women who have broken through the glass ceiling and advanced not only their careers, but the industry as well. Listen to Paula Wilson, the former chair of PERC; Leslie Woodward, the former chair of the TS&S Committee; Michelle Bimson, chair-elect of NPGA; and Nancy Coop, Founding Chair of Women in Propane Council and first woman inductee into the LPGas Hall of Fame, as they talk about their experience in making change in the propane industry.

After that session concludes, a celebration networking lunch and recognition awards will be hosted in the banquet room. The event will close with two feature educational training sessions, ‘Own Your Leadership Success: Create a Highly Engaged, Remote Team presented by Alyson Van Hooser, a leadership development training, author and keynote speaker and ‘Why Should Someone be Led by You: Five Hard-Hitting Questions to Ask Yourself About Your Ability to Lead People’ hosted by Margaret Morford, the CEO of HR Edge. Margaret is an expert trainer who is returning to us for her fourth year of educating at Women in Propane events.

These impactful training sessions will provide the audience with valuable tools to succeed in this changing corporate climate and virtual world, while empowering each individual to take control of his or her career and determine ways to help propel their organization forward.
